

Moody Street Marketplace Working Group is planning a grand experiment this autumn!

A City-sponsored plan to create a CAR-FREE FALL MARKETPLACE, including Krazy Daze*, sidewalk merchant displays, Waltham Farmers' Market, music, food, and more!

The Marketplace will encompass Moody Street between Pine & Taylor, for four Saturdays in October, 2019.
Traffic excluded 7 AM to 3 PM.

Responding to a huge demand for pedestrian-friendly shopping in Waltham, we are working with the City of Waltham to turn part of Moody Street into a pedestrian shopping plaza.

The plaza will exclude vehicular traffic and parking between Pine Street and Taylor Street. Through traffic will be re-routed onto Crescent Street.

All of Moody from Pine St. to High St. will be included in Krazy Daze and the sidewalk festivals, despite the vehicle exclusion going only from Pine to Taylor.

The Waltham Farmers' Market will move to the plaza, bringing hundreds more shoppers to Moody Street.

Entertainment, sidewalk sales, merchant displays, and other features will draw crowds to the Marketplace.

October's four-Saturday experiment will help us see whether an expanded pedestrian plaza is right for Moody Street in the future.

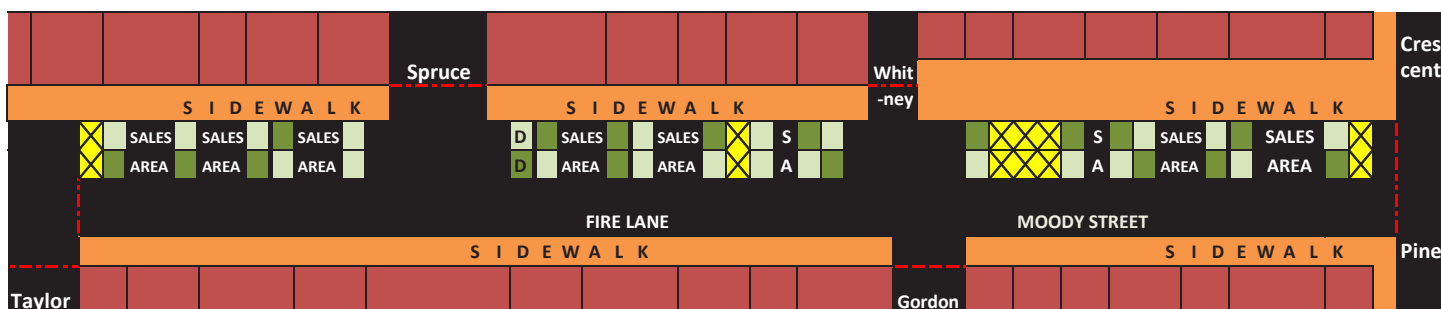

* What is "Krazy Daze," you might ask? It's when Moody Street shops get to knock down the walls for a day (so to speak), and bring their wares out onto the sidewalk while the whole block becomes a big party of fun, family, and Waltham community!

Start imagining how you might participate!
